1. Introduction

This Client Categorisation Policy ("the Policy") sets out the requirements for the classification of clients as Retail, Experienced Retail (Poland only), Professional or Eligible Counterparties to ensure that the risks to both StoneX Europe Ltd ("the Firm", "the Company" or "SEL") and its clients, including but not limited to the risk of an insolvency event, are effectively mitigated and managed.

2. Scope

This Policy applies to:

- SEL directors, employees, agents, contractors and sub-contractors and any other legal person acting on behalf of the Firm (collectively "staff"); and
- any other entity that performs regulated activities on behalf of the Firm or its staff.

Those to whom this Policy applies should familiarise themselves with its requirements and not engage in any behaviour which may be a breach of its provisions. This Policy applies to all activities of the Firm, regardless of whether it falls strictly within the scope of the applicable regulations. If in doubt, the spirit of the Policy should apply.

Violations of this Policy will be taken seriously and may result in the invocation of the Firm's disciplinary process.

3. Regulatory Requirements

Client categorisation rules were first outlined in the Markets in Financial Instruments Directive¹ ("MiFID") and were expanded significantly in the MiFID II Directive² and the EU Markets in Financial Instrument Regulation³ which came into force in January 2018.

SEL must comply with the relevant rules and guidance set out by the Cyprus Securities and Exchange Commission ("CySEC") in Law 87(I)/2017 ("the Law"), which defines types of clients, notification requirements, qualitative and quantitative tests and criteria for certain client categories, levels of protection, policies, procedures and records which firms must have in place.

In addition, the Polish Financial Supervision Authority ("KNF") also has a specific client categorisation for Experienced Retail Clients which is applicable exclusively to Polish residents. This categorisation provides particular benefits and trading conditions tailored to experienced clients in Poland, distinguishing them from other retail clients.

SEL currently offers Contracts for Difference (“CFDs”) which are high risk and complex products. In 2018, when introducing product intervention legislation, the European Securities and Markets Authority (“ESMA”) stated that:

“CFDs are marketed, distributed or sold to both retail and professional clients. However, retail (unlike professional) clients do not normally possess the experience, knowledge and expertise to make investment decisions which properly assess the risks they incur with regard to the complex CFDs.”

Clients who elect to be ‘opted-up’ to Professional clients should be aware that they will lose some of the protections afforded to Retail clients.

4. Categories of Clients

4.1 Retail Clients

A Retail client is defined as a client who is “not a Professional client or an Eligible Counterparty” and as such, a client who does not meet the criteria outlined in any of the sections below will be classed as a Retail client.

All clients of SEL undergo appropriateness assessments as part of the application process to determine whether our products are appropriate for them given the high-risk nature of leveraged trading and potential risk of harm to the wider retail market.

Retail clients receive the highest level of protection including:

- Negative balance protection
- Maximum leverage limits,
- Segregation of client funds
- 50% margin close out level.

Retail clients are also provided with the following protections:

- Best execution – SEL must take all sufficient steps to obtain, when executing orders, the best possible results for its clients considering the execution factors which include price, costs, speed and likelihood of execution.
- Trade confirmations – Retail clients must be provided with prescriptive trade confirmation information.
- Key information documents – documents containing the key information about the products offered must be provided to Retail clients.
- Communications – must be fair, clear and not misleading.
- Risk Warnings – Retail clients receive risk warnings about CFD trading.

SEL must provide Retail clients with a clear written warning of the protections and investor compensation rights that the client may lose by opting-up to Elective Professional classification (see below for more details on Professional clients). This must be in a separate document from any client contract and the client must confirm in writing that they are aware of the consequences of losing such protections.

4.2 Experienced Retail Clients (specific client category for Polish residents only)

According to the KNF, an Experienced Retail Client is a Retail client who, although not classified as a professional, demonstrates significant experience, knowledge, and understanding of trading financial instruments. These clients are skilled at assessing and managing the risks associated with higher levels of leverage. A category of Experienced Retail Clients relates only to Polish residents. This category is applicable to transactions in CFDs and is not applicable to transactions in any other financial instruments.

An Experienced Retail Client benefits from the protections given to Retail Clients and SEL can offer reduced margin requirements and a higher leverage to such clients. The Experienced Retail Clients continue to receive high standards of investor protection as mandated by EU regulations. To qualify as an Experienced Retail Client, the client must meet certain criteria and a prescribed procedure must be followed, as outlined in Section 5 below.

4.3 Professional Clients

A Professional client is defined as a client who possesses the experience, knowledge and expertise to make his/her own investment decisions and properly assess the risks that (s)he incurs. A Professional client may be either an Elective Professional or a Per Se Professional as described below.

4.4 Elective Professional Clients

SEL may opt-up a Retail client to Elective Professional status in accordance with the Client Classification rules which state that a firm may treat a client, other than a local public authority or municipality, as an Elective Professional client when certain criteria are met. The client must pass a 'qualitative test' and a 'quantitative test' and a prescribed procedure must be followed, outlined in Section 5 below.

4.5 Per Se Professional Clients

SEL categorises a client as a Per Se Professional where such client meets the criteria for Eligible Counterparty ("ECP") as set out below, but chooses not to hold this categorisation. Clients who do choose to hold ECP categorisation may also request to be treated as a non-professional (Retail) client and, in that case, SEL may agree to provide a higher level of protection.

The following types of client shall be regarded as Per Se Professional clients in all investment services and activities and financial instruments for the purposes of the Law:

1. Entities which are required to be authorised or regulated to operate in the financial markets. The list below should be understood as including all authorised entities carrying out the characteristic activities of the entities mentioned, entities authorised by a member state under a European Community Directive, entities authorised or regulated by a member state without reference to such Directive, and entities authorised or regulated by a non Member State:
 - a) Credit institutions;
 - b) Investment Firms;
 - c) Other authorised or regulated financial institutions;
 - d) Insurance undertakings;
 - e) Collective investment schemes and management companies of such schemes;
 - f) Pension funds and management companies of such funds;
 - g) Commodity and commodity derivatives dealers;
 - h) Locals;
 - i) Other institutional investors
2. Large undertakings meeting two of the following size requirements, on a proportional basis:
 - Balance sheet total of at least EUR 20.000.000
 - Net turnover of at least EUR 40.000.000
 - Own funds of at least EUR 2.000.000
3. National and regional governments, public bodies that manage public debt, central banks, international and supranational institutions such as the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, the European Central Bank, the European Investment Bank and other similar international organisations.
4. Other institutional investors whose main activity is to invest in financial instruments, including entities dedicated to the securitisation of assets or other financing transactions.

4.6 Eligible Counterparties ('ECP')

An 'Eligible Counterparty' is any of the following entities to which an investment firm provides the services of reception and transmission of orders on behalf of clients and/or execution of such orders: Cyprus Investment Firms, other investment firms, credit institutions, insurance companies, UCITS and UCITS management companies, pension funds and their management companies, other financial institutions authorised by a Member State or regulated under the laws of Cyprus or under European Union law, national governments and their correspondent offices, including public bodies that deal with public debt at national level, central banks and supranational organizations, including, those included in Section 31(2)(b), (31)(3) and 31(4) of the Law.

An example of an ECP includes, but is not limited to:

- An investment bank;
- An investment firm;
- A national government;

- A central bank.

Professional clients and ECPs are afforded fewer protections than Retail clients as they are deemed to have a higher level of knowledge, understanding and expertise than Retail clients. As such, SEL is not obliged to offer the protections listed in section 4.1 of this Policy to Professional clients.

In addition, Best Execution may be applied differently for Professional clients [and ECPs] than Retail clients, more sophisticated language may be used to communicate with a Professional client than Retail clients and SEL is entitled to assume that Professional clients have the necessary level of knowledge and experience to understand the risks involved in trading leveraged products.

5. Re-categorisation of Clients

5.1 Opt-Up from Retail to Elective Professional

Retail clients can apply for re-categorisation from Retail to Elective Professional status on SEL's website or by sending an email, as communicated from time to time by SEL, that they wish to be treated as a Professional client.

For a Retail client to be opted-up to Elective Professional status, SEL must conduct a qualitative and quantitative assessment, both of which need to be passed. A client cannot be opted-up if they only pass one of the two assessments.

Qualitative Assessment

In order to pass this test, SEL must assess whether the client: (i) has sufficient expertise, experience and knowledge of the transactions and services envisaged; (ii) is capable of making their own investment decisions; and (iii) understands the risks involved.

The client must answer 'yes' to the following two questions in the Professional opt-up application form:

- Do you understand that trading as a Professional will involve a greater risk of loss than trading as a Retail client as you are trading on higher leverage rates?
- Are you confident you have the adequate expertise, experience and knowledge to allow you to manage your account on the higher leverage rates that apply to a Professional account?

Should a client answer 'no' to any of the above questions but has passed the quantitative test, the application should be referred to Compliance as a potential 'fat finger' error. If this is deemed to be a possibility, clarification is sought from the client about the answers to the qualitative assessment questions. The client should under no circumstance be led or induced into changing their answers to 'yes' in order to pass the assessment, nor should SEL insinuate that the client understands the answers to the questions as they passed the quantitative test. The conversation must remain neutral and factual.

If the client confirms that they have answered correctly and intended to answer 'no', the client has failed the assessment, and the application must be declined. If the client made a 'fat finger error' and confirms the answers should have been 'yes', then the assessment process can proceed.

Quantitative Assessment

In relation to MiFID or equivalent third country business, the client must satisfy at least two of the following criteria to have passed the quantitative assessment:

1. The client must be able to evidence transactions of a significant size, on the relevant market at an average frequency of 10 transactions per quarter over the previous four quarters either with SEL or another broker; or
2. The value of the client's financial instrument portfolio, defined as cash deposits and financial instruments, exceeds €500,000; or
3. The client or, in the case of a company, individual(s) involved should be employed or have recently worked in the financial sector for at least one year in a professional position, which requires knowledge of the transactions or services envisaged.

SEL determines significant size as a minimum notional value of, for example, €100,000 on forex, €50,000 on indices, €10,000 on single stock CFDs, however this is assessed on case-by-case basis.

Relevant markets include: CFDs/FX (Spot/Forwards/Options); Futures; Options; Leveraged Exchange Traded Products (e.g. Turbos); Warrants, Binary Options and Spread betting.

When assessing each criterion, SEL must take all 'reasonable steps'⁴ to ensure that a Retail client that has requested to be treated as a Professional, meets the requirements of the quantitative assessment. If SEL does not hold such evidence, relevant evidence must be requested from the client.

In addition, the following procedure must be followed:

- a) the client must state in writing to the firm that it wishes to be treated as a Professional client either generally or in respect of a particular service or transaction or type of transaction or product;*
- b) the firm must give the client a clear written warning of the protections and investor compensation rights the client may lose; and*
- c) the client must state in writing, in a separate document from the contract, that it is aware of the consequences of losing such protections.*

⁴ ESMA Q&A 25th May 2018 Section 11, question 3

It is up to SEL to accept or reject any such request for change of categorisation at its discretion. If SEL becomes aware that the client no longer fulfils the initial conditions which made it eligible for Professional status, the Company shall take action to re-categorise the client as appropriate.

Any request that SEL receives from a Retail client in relation to re-categorisation should be actioned in accordance with SEL's requirement to act honestly, fairly and professionally for the best interests of the client. Improper client opt-ups may result in regulatory, legal and reputational risk.

Joint Accounts

Both joint account holders must qualify individually for Elective Professional categorisation for the joint account to be opted-up from Retail to Elective Professional status. It is not sufficient that only one client qualifies as the other client, who remains Retail, would have access to the higher leverage levels and would not benefit from all the regulatory protections. Should only one joint account holder qualify, the account and both clients must remain as Retail.

5.2 Opt-down from ECP or Professional Client

Professional clients and ECPs have the right to request re-categorisation as a client that benefits from a higher degree of protection. It is the responsibility of the client to ask for a higher level of protection. SEL may, at its discretion, opt clients down to Retail or Professional status as appropriate, for example, if a client notifies us that they no longer meet the Professional or ECP criteria. This may also occur if SEL becomes aware through other information received that the client may be unable to properly assess or manage the risks involved with trading as either a Professional or ECP.

Clients may be required to close any existing open positions before they are re-categorised. If a client re-categorisation is applied by SEL, new written agreements will be issued and the client that is to be re-categorised must complete the appropriate form(s) which will replace any previous agreement.

If a Retail client requests to opt-up to Professional status within 6 months of being opted down from Professional status, SEL may refuse such a request.

5.3 Experienced Retail Client Opt-Up (Polish residents only)

To qualify as an Experienced Retail Client, as well as being a Polish resident, at least one criterion from both sections 1 and 2 below must be met, with relevant supporting evidence.

- Section 1 – Trading Experience
 - Criteria 1a: Over the last 24 months, at least 10 CFD trades entered of a nominal value of at least €50,000 per trade (or the equivalent in PLN) per quarter over the previous four quarters (with SEL and/or other providers).
 - Criteria 1b: Over the last 24 months, at least 50 CFD trades entered of a nominal value of at least €10,000 per trade (or the equivalent in PLN) per quarter over the previous four quarters (with SEL and/or other providers).

- Criteria 1c: Over the last 24 months, at least 40 CFD trades entered of a nominal total value of at least €2,000,000 (or the equivalent in PLN) per quarter over the previous four quarters (with SEL and/or other providers).
- Section 2 – Professional Knowledge
 - Criteria 2a: The client holds a professional certificate evidencing knowledge of derivatives, including CFDs⁵.
 - Criteria 2b: The client has relevant work experience, having worked for at least one year in a position requiring professional knowledge of CFDs or other derivatives.
 - Criteria 2c: The client has completed at least 50 hours of training in derivatives, including CFDs, and has a relevant certificate evidencing this training within the last 12 months.⁶

6. Inactive Accounts

An account may be deemed as inactive after a certain period of trading inactivity. Should a client contact SEL and request that their account be reactivated to resume trading, an account reactivation form must be completed to ensure that the contact details are correct. In addition, a rationale should be obtained from the client as to why they are looking to resume trading, and the client's trading experience also needs to be reassessed.

Should a Professional client whose account is inactive wish to resume trading, the account needs to be re-assessed as above to ensure that they remain eligible for Professional classification.

7. Notifications

SEL must notify a new client of their categorisation as a Retail client, Professional client or ECP in a durable medium prior to the provision of any services. The client must also be informed about any rights to request a different categorisation, and any limitations to the level of client protection a different categorisation would entail.

⁵ Acceptable certifications include: Investment Advisor, Securities Broker, Chartered Financial Analyst, Financial Risk Manager, Professional Risk Manager, ACI Dealing Certificate, ACI Diploma, or completion of a relevant field of study.

⁶ If the client meets at least one of the criteria in section 1 but none from section 2, FOREX.com will provide free access to relevant training as described in Criteria 2c. However, this does not guarantee that the training will always lead to receiving the relevant certificate.
