For purposes of a CFD, a Reference Asset means property of any description or an index or other factor designated in a CFD to which reference is made to fluctuations in the value or price for the purpose of determining profits or losses under the CFD. FOREX.com Canada expects that these prices will be reasonably related to the bid prices and ask prices available in the market at that time for similar transactions, but a number of factors, such as communication system delays, high volume or volatility can result in deviations between prices quoted by FOREX.com Canada and other sources. FOREX.com Canada will treat your order to open a new position as an instruction to close the existing position to the extent of the size of the new position. If the new position is greater in size than the first position then the first position will be closed in full and a CFD Contract opened in relation to the excess size of the new position.
- 4.9. Expiry Transaction. Unless otherwise informed, if You do not close an Expiry Transaction, understood as a transaction which had a set contract period at the end of which the Expiry Transaction expires automatically, on or before the Last Dealing Time then, FOREX.com Canada will close Your Expiry Transaction as soon as FOREX.com Canada has ascertained the price of the Expiry Transaction. The price of the Expiry Transaction will be (a) the last traded price at or prior to the close or the applicable official closing quotation or value in the relevant Reference Asset as reported by the relevant exchange, errors, omissions excluded; plus or, as the case may be, minus (b) any spread that FOREX.com Canada applies when such an Expiry Transaction is closed. Details of the spread that is applied by FOREX.com Canada when a particular Expiry Transaction is closed are available on request. You acknowledge that it is your responsibility to make yourself aware of the Last Dealing Time and of any spread or commission that we may apply when you close an Expiry Transaction.
- 4.10. Market Suspension of a CFD. If at any time trading on a regulated market is suspended in any Reference Asset which is listed on a market, FOREX.com Canada shall calculate the value of the CFD with reference to the last traded price before the time of suspension, or a closing price as reasonably determined by FOREX.com Canada if no trading in that Reference Asset is undertaken during the business day on which a suspension occurs. In the event that the aforesaid suspension continues for five (5) business days, FOREX.com Canada and You may in good faith agree to a closing date and a value of the CFD. In the absence of such agreement, the CFD shall remain open in accordance with the provisions of this clause until such time as the aforesaid suspension is lifted or the CFD is otherwise closed. During the term of a CFD whose Reference Asset is suspended FOREX.com Canada has the right to terminate the CFD at our discretion and to amend or vary margin requirements and margin rates.
- 4.11. Market Delisting of a CFD. If a regulated market on which a Reference Asset is principally traded announces that pursuant to the rules of such market the relevant Reference Asset has ceased (or will cease) to be listed, traded or publicly quoted on the market for any reason and is not immediately re-listed, re-traded or re-quoted on the market or quotation system located in the same country as the market, or already so issued, quoted or traded the day on which such event occurs, or (if earlier) is announced shall be the closing date. The closing price will be such price as notified by FOREX.com Canada to You.

5. MARGIN REQUIREMENTS. Customer shall provide to and maintain with FOREX.com Canada Margin in such amounts, in cash or other such forms, and within such limits as FOREX.com Canada, in its sole discretion, may from time to time require. Customer's Account will be under the control of FOREX.com Canada. FOREX.com Canada may change Margin requirements at any time, without prior notice to Customer, and may call for additional Margin ("Margin Call") at (i) any time Customer's Margin Balance falls below FOREX.com Canada's Minimum Margin Requirement as applied to that Account; and (ii) any time FOREX.com Canada, in its sole discretion, believes that it is prudent to do so. FOREX.com Canada may at any time liquidate Customer's Account in accordance with Section 9 below. FOREX.com Canada may withdraw funds from the Customer's account without notice: (i) to ensure that Posted Margin equals or exceeds Required Margin; and (ii) to satisfy any payment obligation to FOREX.com Canada, including commissions, fees and charges in respect of Customer's Account (See Section 11 "Charges"). In the event that Customer directs FOREX.com Canada to sell any Margin, Collateral, Contract or other property and FOREX.com Canada is unable to deliver such Margin, Collateral, Contract or other property to a purchaser because Customer fails to deliver it to FOREX.com Canada, FOREX.com Canada may borrow or purchase any Margin, Collateral, Contract or property necessary to make such delivery, and Customer hereby agrees to guarantee and hold FOREX.com Canada harmless against any liability, claim, loss, damage, cost or expense, including attorneys' fees that FOREX.com Canada may sustain.
6. SECURITY AGREEMENT. In order to secure any indebtedness or other obligations at any time owing from Customer to FOREX.com Canada, including, without limitation, (i) indebtedness or other obligations under any Account, Contract or other transaction with FOREX.com Canada; or (ii) any indebtedness or other obligations resulting from any guarantee by Customer of any Account, Contract or other transaction with FOREX.com Canada, Customer hereby assigns, pledges and grants to FOREX.com Canada a security interest in and right of setoff against: (i) all of Customer's Accounts with FOREX.com Canada; (ii) all Contracts, cash, securities and other property in Customer's Account at FOREX.com Canada or delivered or otherwise provided by Customer to secure its indebtedness or other obligations to FOREX.com Canada or in FOREX.com Canada's possession or control for any purpose (including safekeeping); and (iii) all products and proceeds of the foregoing (collectively, (i), (ii) and (iii) are referred to as "Collateral"). At any time, in FOREX.com Canada's sole discretion and without prior demand or notice, FOREX.com Canada may apply any or all cash (or sell or buy in any such Contracts, securities or other property and apply the proceeds there from) to any such indebtedness or other obligations, notwithstanding that such indebtedness or other obligations arise in an Account other than the Account in which the cash, Contracts, securities or other property were held or generated. FOREX.com Canada shall have the right to sell, pledge, rehypothecate, assign, invest, commingle and otherwise use any Collateral it holds (including, but not limited to, using the Contracts as collateral for a loan to FOREX.com Canada) free from any claim or right of any nature whatsoever of the Customer, including any equity or right of redemption by the Customer and to register any Collateral in the name of FOREX.com Canada, its custodian or a nominee for either. Any failure by FOREX.com Canada to enforce its rights hereunder shall not be deemed a future waiver of such rights by FOREX.com Canada. FOREX.com Canada is irrevocably appointed as attorney-in-fact for Customer and is authorized, without notice to Customer, to execute and deliver any documents, give any notice and to take any actions on behalf of Customer, including the execution, delivery and filing of financing statements, that FOREX.com Canada deems necessary or desirable to evidence or to protect FOREX.com Canada's interest with respect to any Collateral. In the event that the Collateral deemed acceptable to FOREX.com Canada ("Eligible Collateral") is at any time insufficient to satisfy Customer's indebtedness or other obligations to FOREX.com Canada, including obligations to provide Margin in accordance with Section 5 hereof, Customer shall promptly pay upon demand the entire amount of such deficit.
7. NOVATION OF OPPOSING CONTRACTS. Whenever there may exist in any Customer Account two (2) or more open and opposite Contracts providing in whole or in part for the purchase and sale of the same Foreign Currency, Cross Currency Pairs, Metal or CFD Contracts on the same Value Date, such Contracts shall automatically be canceled and replaced by an obligation to settle only the net difference between amounts payable in respect of the relevant currencies under the relevant Contracts, and/or the net difference between the quantities of the relevant currency deliverable thereunder.

Although a Spot Rate is specified upon entry of Stop/Loss Orders, Limit Orders and other non-market Orders, market conditions may often prevent the execution of an individual Customer's non-market Orders despite other dealing activity at that price level, or may often require non-market Orders to be Filled at a substantially different Spot Rate, and Customer agrees to accept the best rate which FOREX.com Canada, in its discretion, may assign to the Fill. - 3.6. Confirmation of Fills. Trades executed online will be confirmed online in the Activity Log, Deal Blotter, on the Execution Screen, and the Position Management Screen is updated online as each trade is executed. Telephone orders are verbally confirmed and confirmed online in the Deal Blotter and Position Management Screen by 17:30 ET on the day the order is placed. In cases where the prevailing market represents prices different from the prices FOREX.com Canada has posted on our screen, FOREX.com Canada will attempt, on a best efforts basis, to execute trades on or close to the prevailing market prices. 6. LIQUIDATION LEVEL.
- 6.1. This notification is a courtesy reminder only, and does not relieve you of any duty or obligation to monitor your Account at all points in time. 4. Hypothetical performance results have many inherent limitations, some of which are described below. No warranty or representation is made that any Account will or is likely to achieve profits or losses similar to those shown in connection with any Trading Tool. In fact, there are frequently sharp differences between hypothetical performance results and the actual results subsequently achieved. Actual returns may be different to any hypothetical or indicative returns shown in any Trading Tool.
5. One of the limitations of hypothetical performance results is they are generally prepared with the benefit of hindsight. In addition, hypothetical trading does not involve financial risk and no hypothetical trading record can completely account for the impact of financial risk in actual trading. For example, the ability to withstand losses or to adhere to a particular trading platform in spite of trading losses are material points which can also adversely affect actual trading results. There are numerous other factors related to the markets in general or to the implementation of any specific trading program which cannot be fully accounted for in the preparation of hypothetical performance results and all of which can adversely affect actual trading results.
6. FOREX.com Canada does not undertake to continue to offer the Trading Tools at all times and may not offer the same in the future. FOREX.com Canada may withdraw or cancel any or all of the Trading Tools, or terminate your access to any or all of them, for any reason or for no reason at any time with or without notice, in our sole discretion.
7. Trading Tools can only be used for your own personal benefit. They cannot be used for business purposes or on behalf of another person nor can they be varied, passed on or resold to or shared with (in whole or in part) another person or entity or used to place any trades outside of our platform.
8. You will not copy, modify, de-compile, reverse engineer, or make derivative works of or from the Trading Tools or the manner in which they operate.
9. All intellectual property and other rights in the Trading Tools remain our sole property or the property of our licensors. FOREX.com Canada does not assign, license, or otherwise transfer to you any right or interest in the Trading Tools whatsoever, except for the right to access and use the Trading Tools as expressly permitted by us in writing. In particular, but without limitation, all goodwill derived from the use or development of the Trading Tools will accrue exclusively to us. You will not do, or omit to do, or permit to be done, any act that will or may materially weaken, damage or be detrimental to the Trading Tools or the reputation of the goodwill associated with us or the Trading Tools.
10. FOREX.com Canada does not commit to, and is not obliged to provide you with, any number of Trading Tools and the delivery of Trading Tools is not guaranteed. FOREX.com Canada may provide the Trading Tools at such times, at such intervals and based on such factors as we may determine in our absolute discretion. You should not therefore use or rely on the Trading Tools as a method of monitoring prices, positions/markets or making trading decisions, and no liability will be accepted by us in this respect.
11. The Trading Tools are provided "AS IS", without any representation or warranty of any kind whatsoever, including that they will be without interruption or error free.
12. FOREX.com Canada may suspend use of the Trading Tools at any time to carry out maintenance, repairs, upgrades or any development related issues, in order to comply with Applicable Laws or for any other reason determined by us in our sole discretion.
13. To the extent permitted by Applicable Laws, you agree not to hold FOREX.com Canada, our directors, officers, employees, or agents liable for losses or damages, including legal fees, that may arise, directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, from: (a) non-delivery, delayed delivery, or the misdirected delivery of any Trading Tool, (b) inaccurate or incomplete content of any Trading Tool, or (c) your reliance on or use of the information in any Trading Tool for any purpose.

Any failure by you to comply with any of the above obligations or restrictions shall constitute an Event of Default under our Customer Agreement.

In consideration of FOREX.com Canada agreeing to enter into Over-the-Counter ("OTC") Foreign Exchange, metal and CFD Contracts with the Customer, Customer acknowledges, understands and agrees that Customer is aware of the risks involved in trading foreign currency, spot metal and CFD contracts. In order to open and operate an account with FOREX.com Canada, you must indicate that you have read and understood this Risk Disclosure Statement. Please read this Risk Disclosure Statement in its entirety.

- 1. Trading Is Very Speculative and Risky. Foreign Exchange, Spot Metal and CFD Trading is highly speculative and is suitable only for those customers who (a) understand and are willing to assume the economic, legal and other risks involved, and (b) are financially able to assume losses significantly in excess of Margin or deposits. Customer represents, warrants and agrees that Customer understands these risks; that Customer is willing and able, financially and otherwise, to assume the risks of Foreign Exchange, Spot Metal and CFD Trading and that loss of Customer's entire Account Balance will not change Customer's lifestyle.
- 2. High Leverage And Low Margin Can Lead To Quick Losses. The high leverage and low Margin associated with Foreign Exchange, Spot and CFD Metal Trading can result in significant losses due to price changes in Foreign Exchange Contracts, Cross Currency Contracts, Metal Contracts and CFD Contracts. Customers must maintain the Minimum Margin Requirement on their Open Positions at all times. It is the Customer's responsibility to monitor his/her Account Balance. FOREX.com Canada has the right to liquidate any or all Open Positions whenever the Minimum Margin Requirement is not maintained. Increasing leverage increases risk.
- 3. Leverage Risk Disclosure. Using borrowed money to finance the purchase of securities involves greater risk than using cash resources only. - 4. Prices, Margin And Valuations Are Set By FOREX.com Canada And May Be Different From Prices Reported Elsewhere. FOREX.com Canada will provide prices to be used in trading, valuation of Customer positions and determination of Margin requirements. FOREX.com Canada will exercise considerable discretion in setting and collecting Margin. FOREX.com Canada is authorized to convert funds in Customer's Account for Margin into and from such Foreign Currency, Metal and CFD at a rate of exchange determined by FOREX.com Canada in its sole discretion on the basis of then-prevailing money market rates.
- 5. There is no "second look" before transmission, and Market Orders cannot be cancelled. This feature may be different from other trading systems. Customer agrees that by using FOREX.com Canada's order-entry system, Customer agrees to the one-click system and accepts the risk of this immediate transmission feature.
- 6. Telephone Orders And Immediate Execution. Market Orders executed through the FOREX.com Canada Trading Desk are completed when FOREX.com Canada says "deal" or "done". RELATIONSHIP DISCLOSURE

GAIN Capital - FOREX.com Canada Ltd. ("FOREX.com Canada") is registered as an investment dealer with the securities regulatory authorities in each of the provinces and territories of Canada, a derivatives dealer in Québec and a suitability-exempt dealer member of the Canadian Investment Regulatory Organization ("CIRO", formerly the Investment Industry Regulatory Organization of Canada ("IIROC")). This relationship disclosure information form ("RDI") applies to our retail customers and a copy of the same will be provided to you at the time of opening an account with FOREX.com Canada and when there is a significant change to the RDI previously provided to you.

Products and Services

FOREX.com Canada provides customers with the ability to self-direct their online trading activities in foreign exchange ("FX"), precious metals, indices, oil, commodities and other "spot" contracts, and in contracts for difference ("CFDs"), on an over-the-counter basis (collectively, "OTC contracts") with FOREX.com Canada acting as principal. OTC contracts are not transferable or fungible with other contracts or financial instruments.

A list of products and pricing information offered through FOREX.com Canada's trading platform is available at Product List. Alternatively, you may call FOREX.com Canada's trading desk at 1-855-317-9242 (international 1-908-458-8297) for information or to place an order. FOREX.com Canada attempts to execute all customer orders that it, in its sole discretion, may accept, at or close to prevailing reference market prices using reasonable best efforts. FOREX.com Canada does not charge a trade commission for most products, rather its remuneration is derived from the bid/ask spread (added to the price in the case of a purchase or deducted from the price in the case of a sale). With respect to CFD share trading and Direct Market Access accounts, customers will pay a commission in addition to the bid/ask spread. For further information about applicable trading fees Please see Fee Schedule.

Market information is available in real time through Forex.com Canada's trading platform. This information is generic and is not tailored for your specific needs, nor is it intended to be a recommendation for you to buy, sell or hold a particular security or position. FOREX.com Canada is exempt from suitability obligations - this means FOREX.com Canada will not consider your financial situation, investment knowledge, investment objectives or risk tolerances when accepting or executing your orders, and you alone are responsible for your trading activities and for any profits or losses in your account.

Customer Accounts

Customers can open an account online with FOREX.com Canada on our trading platforms: Open an Account here. Customers can choose to open a Standard Account, or a Direct Market Access ("DMA") Account (bid/offers are sourced directly from Forex.com Canada's liquidity providers and only FX products are available). Customers can choose the base currency (Canadian dollar or US dollar) of the account. All accounts are margin accounts, which involves the use of leverage. Leverage allows customers to magnify profits or losses by reducing the initial capital outlay required to achieve the same market exposure that would be obtained by investing directly in the underlying currency or instrument.

Trading in OTC contracts is risky, and these risks may be magnified by market fluctuations and the use of leverage. Please carefully review the Leverage Risk Disclosure, Risk Disclosure Statement and Futures Risk Disclosure. Customers should also carefully review the information contained in the Customer Agreement provided at the time of account opening.

At the time of account opening, customers are required to state their "risk capital" for the account, which is the maximum cumulative amount that the customer is willing to risk losing and includes any initial deposit amount. An important risk management feature of our trading platforms ensures that customer positions are automatically closed out when a customer fails to maintain sufficient margin in their account to support their positions, thereby preventing the customer from being placed in a margin call situation or losing more than their stated risk capital or cumulative loss limit. Customers may choose to reset or revise the stated risk capital for their account by logging into their MyAccount feature, or by calling and speaking with a supervisor.

Customers are provided with a real-time view of their account status. This includes how tick-by-tick movements affect their account balances and required margins. Customers can view this information throughout the trading day by including it on their trading screen and can also set up alerts that instruct the trading system to automatically send an email notifying them of key identified levels being hit in the market. Percentage return information related to trading account activity is not provided but may be derived from the information included on your account statements. Customers also have the ability to monitor their account and the profit/loss of their positions in real time. Trade confirmations and account statements are provided electronically and are available to customers through their online account.

Other Customer Documentation Provided

In addition to the information provided herein and account statements accessible to all active customers, customers are provided with the following documentation in relation to their accounts with FOREX.com Canada: this RDI which includes CIRO's / IIROC's "Investor's Guide to Making a Complaint" and "How can I get My Money Back?" links. The following brochure links are also provided: "A Guide for Investors" and "How CIRO / IIROC Protects Investors"; Suitability Waiver Acknowledgment, Leverage Risk Disclosure, Risk Disclosure Statement, Disclosure of Non-Resident Status, Conflicts of Interest Policy, Futures Risk Disclosure, Direct Market Access Supplemental Terms; and the FOREX.com Canada's Customer Agreement. Other account documents may be made available depending on the nature of the account, and the individuals involved.

Conflict of Interest

FOREX.com Canada is committed to addressing existing and potential material conflicts of interest situations, which cannot be avoided, in the best interests of its customers and will disclose, where required, to the applicable customer in a timely manner, upon identification of the conflict. Please refer to FOREX.com Canada's Conflicts of Interest Disclosure document for more details.

FOREX.com Canada is required to take reasonable steps to obtain from each individual customer the name and contact information of a person that the customer trusts to assist FOREX.com Canada in protecting the customer's investments. With the customer's written consent, FOREX.com Canada may contact this person to confirm or make inquiries about any of the following: (i) the customer's current contact information; (ii) the name and contact information of a legal representative of the customer, if any; (iii) FOREX.com Canada's concerns about possible financial exploitation of the customer, or (iv) FOREX.com Canada's concerns about the customer's mental capacity as it relates to financial decision making. This does not apply to nonindividual customers.

Temporary Hold

FOREX.com Canada may place a temporary hold on a financial transaction of a customer or on the withdrawal or transfer of cash of the customer if FOREX.com Canada reasonably believes: (i) the customer might have an illness, impairment, disability or aging-process limitation that places the customer at risk of financial exploitation, and (ii) financial exploitation of the customer has occurred, has been attempted or will be attempted. A notice of the temporary hold and the reasons for the temporary hold will be provided to the customer as soon as possible after placing the temporary hold.

Impact of Fees and Charges on Your Returns

The fees and charges described above under "Product and Services" and hyperlinked as the Fee Schedule reflect the applicable fees / costs of our services. The costs associated with maintaining your account, as well as the expenses charged within the investment products that you buy, hold and sell, can also impact the performance of your investment returns by reducing your returns in proportion to the fees and charges that you incur. Investments can also compound in value over time through growth and reinvestment of income. However, the fees that you incur may also reduce the amount of funds that you have that are available to invest and reinvest.

FOREX.com Canada – Conflicts of Interest Policy

Introduction

Conflicts of interest exist in all businesses and in all financial services organizations. We live in a complicated world and this is reflected everywhere, nevertheless, we recognize that our business is above all based on a bond of trust between us and our customers and we are duty bound to identify and manage those conflicts. GAIN Capital – FOREX.com Canada Ltd. (“Forex.com Canada”) has a duty to act in the best interest of our customers and to treat them fairly when providing services.

In general, we deal with and manage relevant conflicts as follows:

- Avoidance: This includes avoiding conflicts that are prohibited by law as well as conflicts that cannot effectively be addressed.
- Control: We manage acceptable conflicts through means such as physically separating different business functions and restricting the internal exchange of information.
- Disclosure: By providing customers with information about conflicts, customers are able to assess independently their significance when evaluating our services and any actions we take.

Our goal is to address conflicts in a fair, equitable and transparent manner, consistent with the best interest of our customers. We will try to avoid conflict where possible, and in all other cases either disclose the conflict, or manage it through internal controls and review processes. Conflicts deemed too significant to be addressed through controls or disclosures must be avoided. Disclosures will be made in a timely, meaningful and prominent manner.

Accordingly, we have put in place a number of policies, procedures and processes designed to identify, evaluate and manage these conflicts of interest. The purpose of this Conflicts of Interest Policy (the “Conflict Policy”) is to identify in a summary form those conflicts which we experience as an organization and to describe how we address the challenges such conflicts impose on us. This Conflicts Policy applies in respect of all activities undertaken by employees and associates of FOREX.com Canada.

Identification of Conflicts of Duty and Interest

We recognize that, in certain circumstances, conflicts of interest or the appearance of a conflict of interest can arise between your interests and the interests of FOREX.com Canada, its directors and employees and other related affiliates or associates within the FOREX.com group of companies. Conflicts or potential conflicts of interest may arise, in particular, where:

- FOREX.com Canada employees are dually-employed with an affiliated company within the StoneX group of companies which could take time or attention away from servicing your account.

How conflicts will be addressed? Our employees are prohibited from engaging in activities that would interfere or create conflict with their duties. We have policies in place to detect and, where applicable, supervise, disclose or prohibit any conflicts of interest. Employees wishing to act as directors or officers of a public or private company must receive prior approval from FOREX.com Canada’s Executive Committee. Furthermore, regulatory legislation prohibits an individual from serving as a director of another registered firm that is not an affiliate of our firm. When an employee sits on a board of directors in any substantive way, they are subject to regulatory guidance on the disclosure and approval of outside business activities.

- FOREX.com Canada acts as principal in executing your order and thereafter enters into an off-setting trade with an affiliated company within the related group of companies, thereby potentially giving rise to an appearance of conflict of interest with your interests.

How conflicts will be addressed? Industry regulation dictate our best price and best execution obligations to you.

- FOREX.com Canada acts on behalf of you in executing your order and earns a profit on the spread, with respect to contract for difference (“CFD”) share trading and direct market access (“DMA”) accounts, customers will pay a commission in addition to the bid/ask spread. As such, conflicts, or potential conflicts may arise as FOREX.com Canada sets the spreads and prices at which it trades with its customers.

How conflicts will be addressed? Customers can view the bid/ask spreads and commissions before executing any transaction directly in our trading platform.

- FOREX.com Canada provides services to you in circumstances where it has knowledge of other actual or potential transactions in the relevant class of investments.

How conflicts will be addressed? FOREX.com Canada’s procedures are established to ensure that orders executed on behalf of customers are promptly and accurately recorded and allocated, and that it carries out otherwise comparable orders sequentially and promptly unless the characteristics of the order or prevailing market conditions make this impracticable, or the interests of the customer require otherwise. The interests of FOREX.com Canada’s customers will always be given priority and there is no trading in reliance upon orders or knowledge of orders to be placed for your account.

- FOREX.com Canada may permit certain individuals who are registered with us (including, potentially, your Investment Representative or account representative) to be employed by, participate in, or accept compensation from other persons or firms, outside of the scope of his/her relationship with us.

How conflicts will be addressed? No business activities outside the scope of our business are permitted for any Investment Representative where a conflict or a perceived conflict of interest may exist, where there is any risk of disruption to client service or any confusion as to who is providing a client services, or any such business would be viewed as disreputable or inappropriate.

- Payment of order execution and research services.

How conflicts will be addressed? Does not issue research reports or charge clients any commissions relating to research services.

In identifying the potential types of conflicts that arise, or may arise, and whose existence may entail a material risk of damage to the interests of a customer, FOREX.com Canada takes into account whether it or any affiliate:

- is likely to make a financial gain, or avoid a financial loss, at the expense of any customer;
- has an interest in the outcome of a service provided to the customer or of a transaction carried out on behalf of the customer, which is distinct from the customer's interest in the outcome;
- has a financial or other incentive to favour the interest of another customer or group of customers over the interests of the customer;
- carries on the same business as the customer; or
- receives or will receive from a person other than the customer an inducement in relation to a service provided to the customer, in the form of monies, goods or services, other than the standard commission or fee for that service.

Management of conflicts of interest

In addition, to prevent and minimize the risk of such conflicts giving rise to a risk of damage to the interests of our customers we have adopted a number of internal systems, procedures and controls, as follows:

- Personal account trading restrictions which prohibit all employees and associates from trading in the same products offered to customers by FOREX.com Canada;
- Internal disclosure requirements which cover the giving and accepting of gifts or other inducements relating to our business for all employees and associates;
- Internal segregation of functions where their performance by the same person would increase the risk of conflict;
- The maintenance of a Code of Business Conduct and Ethics requiring our directors and employees to act in the best interests of our customers and effectively manage any conflicts arising;
- Measures to prevent or limit any person from exercising inappropriate influence over the way in which an employee or associate carries out its services or activities;
- Restrictions on access to data stored electronically or in hard-copy form and procedures preventing or controlling the exchange of information between employees and associates where there is a risk of a conflict of interest; and
- Our directors, officers and employees are required to maintain confidentiality of all information entrusted to them, including in particular, confidential customer information, except where disclosure is required by law or regulation or where necessary in the ordinary course of business in order to service your account. Further, employees are strictly prohibited from using such information for their own trading or personal gain.

Acting as principal

FOREX.com Canada will execute your orders on the basis that we act on our own account as principal and not as your agent, unless we specifically inform you that we are dealing with you as agent with respect to a particular transaction or a class of transactions. We do not charge trading commissions when executing your foreign exchange orders, however we may earn profit on the spread in accordance with normal commercial terms. With respect to CFD share trading and DMA accounts, customers will pay a commission in addition to the bid/ask spread.

Acting for or on behalf of customers

FOREX.com Canada does not usually act as agent for or on behalf of customers when executing orders.

FOREX.com Canada has procedures and arrangements which provide for the prompt, fair and expeditious execution of customer orders as principal transactions in accordance with the time of their reception by FOREX.com Canada.

FOREX.com Canada's procedures are established to ensure that orders executed on behalf of customers are promptly and accurately recorded and allocated and that it carries out otherwise comparable orders sequentially and promptly unless the characteristics of the order or prevailing market conditions make this impracticable, or the interests of the customer require otherwise.

FOREX.com Canada's procedures are established to ensure that FOREX.com Canada, its employees and affiliates do not misuse information relating to pending customer orders.

Disclosures

Where we do not consider that these arrangements will be sufficient to manage the conflict or prevent the risk of damage to customers as a result of a particular conflict, then we will make a general disclosure to allow the customer to consider their position, and to decide whether to continue with the service, and in certain situations we may not be able to carry out the trade for the customer. This type of general disclosure may be made verbally or in writing before or at the time of dealing. Specific disclosure regarding any other conflicts we identify which give rise to a risk of damage will be made verbally or in writing when we become aware of them, and as noted, may in certain circumstances mean that we cannot carry out the trade for the customer.

FOREX.com Canada – Futures Risk Disclosure

Risk Information Document for Derivatives

This brief document does not disclose all of the risks and other significant aspects of trading in futures contracts, options or other derivatives. In light of the risks, you should undertake such transactions only if you understand the nature of the contracts (and contractual relationships) into which you are entering and the extent of your exposure to risk. Trading in derivatives is not suitable for many members of the public. You should carefully consider whether trading is appropriate for you in light of your experience, objectives, financial resources and other relevant circumstances.

Futures Contracts

(1) Effect of “Leverage” or “Gearing”

Transactions in futures contracts carry a high degree of risk. The amount of initial margin is small relative to the value of the futures contract so that transactions are “leveraged” or “geared”. A relatively small market movement will have a proportionately larger impact on the funds you have deposited or will have to deposit: this may work against you as well as for you. You may sustain a total loss of initial margin funds and any additional funds deposited with the firm to maintain your position. If the market moves against your position or margin levels are increased, you may be called upon to pay substantial additional funds on short notice to maintain your position. If you fail to comply with a request for additional funds within the time prescribed, your position may be liquidated at a loss and you will be liable for any resulting deficit.

(2) Risk-reducing Orders or Strategies

The placing of certain orders (e.g., “stop-loss” order, where permitted under local law, or “stop-limit” orders) which are intended to limit losses to certain amounts may not be effective because market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders. Strategies using combinations of positions, such as “spread” and “straddle” positions may be as risky as taking simple “long” or “short” positions.

Options

(3) Variable Degree of Risk

Transactions in options carry a high degree of risk. Purchasers and sellers of options should familiarize themselves with the type of option (i.e., put or call) which they contemplate trading and the associated risks. You should calculate the extent to which the value of the options must increase for your position to become profitable, taking into account the premium and all transaction costs.

The purchaser of options may offset or exercise the options or allow the options to expire. The exercise of an option results either in a cash settlement or in the purchaser acquiring or delivering the underlying interest. If the option is on a futures contract, the purchaser will acquire a futures position with associated liabilities for margin (see the section on Futures Contracts above). If the purchased options expire worthless, you will suffer a total loss of your investment which will consist of the option premium plus transaction costs. If you are contemplating purchasing deep-out-of-the-money options, you should be aware that the chance of such options becoming profitable ordinarily is remote.

Selling (“writing” or “granting”) an option generally entails considerably greater risk than purchasing options. Although the premium received by the seller is fixed, the seller may sustain a loss well in excess of that amount. The seller will be liable for additional margin to maintain the position if the market moves unfavourably. The seller will also be exposed to the risk of the purchaser exercising the option and the seller will be obligated to either settle the option in cash or to acquire or deliver the underlying interest. If the option is on a futures contract, the seller will acquire a position in a future with associated liabilities for margin (see the section on Futures Contracts above). If the option is “covered” by the seller holding a corresponding position in the underlying interest or a futures contract or another option, the risk may be reduced. If the option is not covered, the risk of loss can be unlimited.

Certain exchanges in some jurisdictions permit deferred payment of the option premium, exposing the purchaser to liability for margin payments not exceeding the amount of the premium. The purchaser is still subject to the risk of losing the premium and transaction costs. When the option is exercised or expires, the purchaser is responsible for any unpaid premium outstanding at that time.

Additional Risks Common to Derivatives

(4) Terms and Conditions of Contracts

You should ask the firm with which you deal about the terms and conditions of the specific futures contracts, options or other derivatives which you are trading and associated obligations (e.g., the circumstances under which you may become obligated to make or take delivery of the underlying interest and, in respect of options, expiration dates and restrictions on the time for exercise).

Under certain circumstances the specifications of outstanding contracts (including the exercise price of an option) may be modified by the exchange or clearing house to reflect changes in the underlying interest.

(5) Suspension or Restriction of Trading and Pricing Relationships

Market conditions (e.g., liquidity) and/or the operation of the rules of certain markets (e.g., the suspension of trading in any contract or contract month because of price limits or "circuit breakers") may increase the risk of loss by making it difficult or impossible to effect transactions or liquidate/offset positions. If you have sold options, this may increase the risk of loss.

Further, normal pricing relationships between the underlying interest and the derivative may not exist. This can occur when, for example, the futures contract underlying the option is subject to price limits while the option is not.

The absence of an underlying reference price may make it difficult to judge "fair" value.

(6) Deposited Cash and Property

You should familiarize yourself with the protections accorded money or other property you deposit for domestic and foreign transactions, particularly in the event of a firm insolvency or bankruptcy. The extent to which you may recover your money or property may be governed by specific legislation or local rules. In some jurisdictions, property which had been specifically identifiable as your own will be prorated in the same manner as cash for purposes of distribution in the event of a shortfall.

(7) Commission and Other Charges

Before you begin to trade, you should obtain a clear explanation of all commissions, fees and other charges for which you will be liable. These charges will affect your net profit (if any) or increase your loss.

(8) Transactions in Other Jurisdictions

Transactions on markets in other jurisdictions, including markets formally linked to a domestic market, may expose you to additional risk. Such markets may be subject to regulation which may offer different or diminished investor protection. Before you trade you should inquire about any rules relevant to your particular transactions. Your local regulatory authority will be unable to compel the enforcement of the rules of regulatory authorities or markets in other jurisdictions where your transactions have been effected. You should ask the firm with which you deal for details about the types of redress available in both your home jurisdiction and other relevant jurisdictions before you start to trade.

(9) Currency Risks

The profit or loss in transactions in foreign currency-denominated derivatives (whether they are traded in your own or another jurisdiction) will be affected by fluctuations in currency rates where there is a need to convert from the currency denomination of the derivative to another currency.

(10) Trading Facilities

Most open-outcry and electronic trading facilities are supported by computer-based component systems for the order-routing, execution, matching, registration or clearing of trades. As with all facilities and systems, they are vulnerable to temporary disruption or failure. Your ability to recover certain losses may be subject to limits on liability imposed by the system provider, the market, the clearing house and/or member firms. Such limits may vary; you should ask the firm with which you deal for details in this respect.

(11) Electronic Trading

Trading on an electronic trading system may differ not only from trading in an open-outcry market but also from trading on other electronic trading systems. If you undertake transactions on an electronic trading system, you will be exposed to risks associated with the system, including the failure of hardware and software. The result of any system failure may be that your order is either not executed according to your instructions or is not executed at all. Your ability to recover certain losses which are particularly attributable to trading on a market using an electronic trading system may be limited to less than the amount of your total loss.

(12) Off-exchange Transactions

In some jurisdictions, and only then in restricted circumstances, firms are permitted to effect off-exchange transactions. The firm with which you deal may be acting as your counterparty to the transaction. It may be difficult or impossible to liquidate an existing position, to assess the value, to determine a fair price or to assess the exposure to risk. For these reasons, these transactions may involve increased risks.

Off-exchange transactions may be less regulated or subject to a separate regulatory regime. Before you undertake such transactions, you should familiarize yourself with applicable rules.
