Global capabilities

Open markets.

Our global resources and key exchange memberships worldwide enable us to provide a comprehensive suite of products and services to our clients.

Extensive trading capabilities

The Metals team offers 24-hour online or voice brokerage trade execution and clearing services in futures, options, swaps, OTC and foreign exchange through our operations in New York, Charlotte, London, Hamburg, São Paulo, Hong Kong, Sydney and Singapore. Our status as a Category 1 ring-dealing member of the LME and as a member of NYMEX/COMEX and the CME gives us access to a deep pool of liquidity.

Physical trading

The Metals team has extended its physical trading capability from bullion to LME Warrants trading. From our own inventory or through that of our client-base, we can source LME material around the globe and present our customers with full back-office service as well as financing solutions.

Operational support

Trading is just the beginning. We leverage our infrastructure and expertise to offer operational solutions and provide support in the locations where our customers operate. LME clearing and brokerage services, cash settlement, give-up allocation, warrant delivery notification and management of delivery, and EMIR delegated reporting.

LME products

Expertise

Opens markets.

In highly complex, volatile markets, businesses need products tailored precisely to their specific market needs – from a partner with the expertise, track record and financial strength to back them up.

The StoneX Metals team has more than three decades of experience in the global metals markets. Our expertise includes strategic planning, market analysis, physical & financial bullion trading, LME warrants and base metal brokerage, OTC and futures trading.

Bespoke OTC products

We also offer over-the-counter (OTC) products tailored to meet the specialised needs of the metals market, particularly commercial hedgers. These products include fixed for floating and month average liquidations that replicate physical pricing terms.

Risk management

The Metals team leverages experience and expertise to help metals market participants better manage their risk through customised hedge analysis and implementation and execution strategies. This helps companies to protect their margins and enables greater strategic planning for the long term.

Enterprise perspective

We pride ourselves on understanding a client's whole enterprise and helping them to identify and manage risks beyond just their metals exposure – including those associated with foreign exchange, interest rates and energy price volatility. We have access to the entire range of services available through StoneX's global financial services platform.

Insight

Opens markets.

We offer a robust, global market intelligence platform that is informed by our presence on the trading floors of the LME and NYMEX/COMEX, our work with those exchanges and with industry groups to develop new products and best practices, and by the countless miles we travel to visit our clients onsite and understand the market trends affecting their businesses.

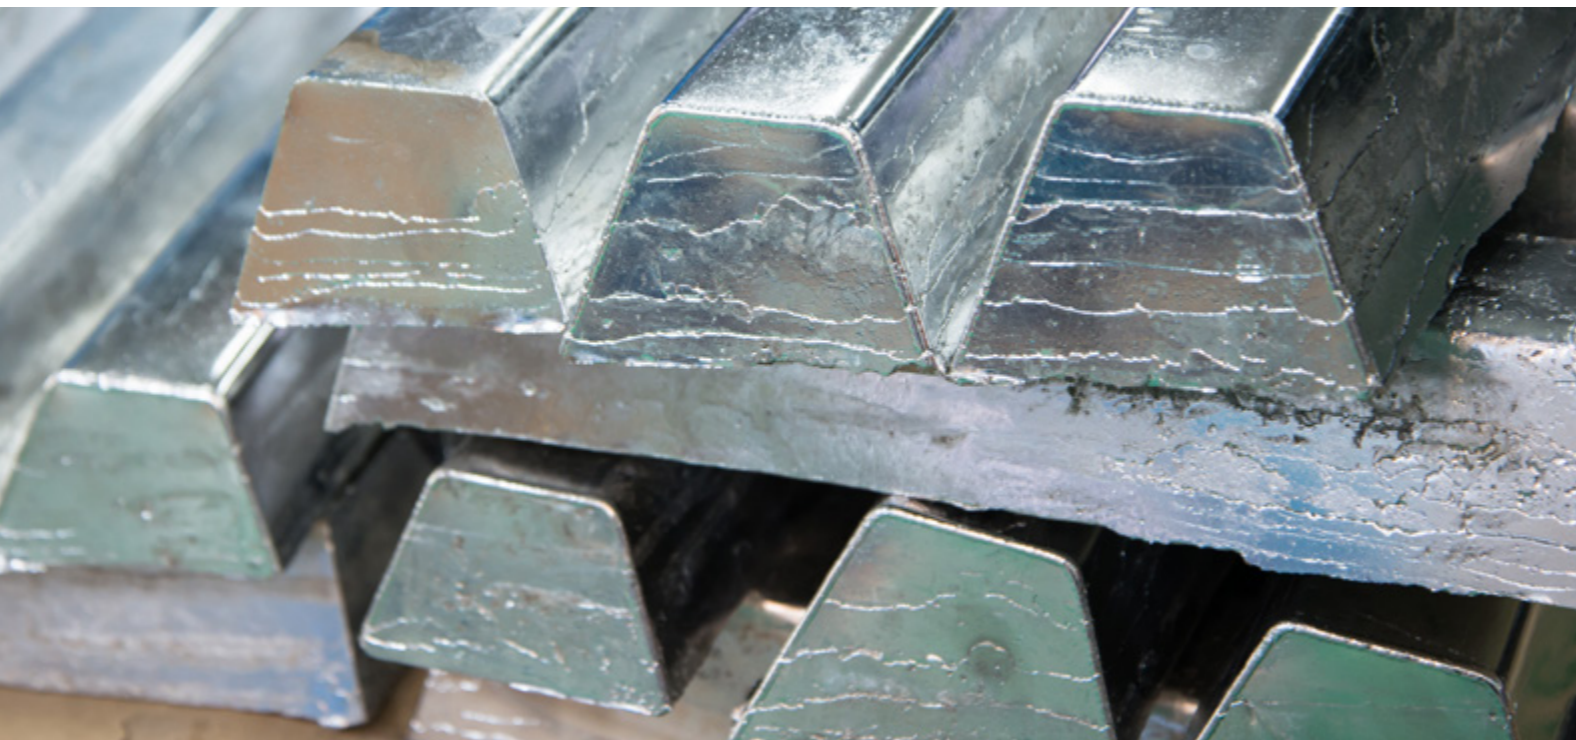

Delivered across online and voice formats, highlights include extensive daily and monthly fundamental and technical analysis of the metals markets, as well as coverage of other commodities and macro-economic trends.

Relationships

Open markets.

Our 35 years of experience, our professional reputation, our expertise in metals and our focus on client service enable us to deliver exceptional value to clients.

The key to our approach is to put our clients' interests first – every time. For some clients, this may mean simply providing exceptionally fast and efficient access to the markets they trade. For others, it may mean building personal relationships and developing a deep understanding of their businesses. Focusing on their objectives, instead of ours, enables us to meet more of our clients' needs and often results in long-term relationships that add value beyond individual deals or transactions.

Contact Us

We open markets for our customers, guiding them to opportunities they wouldn't ordinarily have a chance to seize. We help them to take full advantage of today and propel them toward new opportunities in the future.
